

Public notice on dissertation writing

In its endeavor to promote quality education, INES Ruhengeri has reinforced measures penalizing malpractices in education. It is in this context that students and staff are reminded that dissertation writing is a very important module that has a big impact on the exit profile of the student. Any negligence or malpractice is severely punishable. Students should personally write their dissertations following dissertation guidelines. Malpractice such as plagiarism and the one commonly known as KUDODESHA are strictly prohibited by INES code of conduct. Any student who will be caught shall be punished with one year expulsion and cancellation of the results of the concerned academic year. Any staff of INES caught in such malpractice of writing dissertations for the students shall have his/her working contract terminated with immediate effect.

Let's work together and raise the best of INES image.
